Martine Vallée

Executive Director, Charlevoix School Board

Martine Vallée has been working in the field of education for over 25 years. She began her teaching career as a high school music teacher. Thanks to her proficiency in English, she was also called on to teach English classes. She gradually discovered an interest in management, which led to several years as a school principal. She then continued her career in management as Director of Educational Services for the Charlevoix school board, moving on to the position of Director General of the school board in 2012. In addition to a Bachelor's degree in music and education from the University of Ottawa, Ms. Vallée holds a graduate diploma in education administration and a Master's degree in education management from the University of Sherbrooke.

Martine Vallée is especially interested in the professional development of the various actors in education, the principles of learning organizations and the learning experience offered to the clientele of her organization. She is dedicated to preparing the youth of today to rise to the challenges of the 21st century and to play an active role in current issues. She is also involved in a partnership group in her Charlevoix community that focuses on taking action in the area of social development.
